Free Food Stall Open Saturday

Need for food has not relaxed in the new year and the free food stall in Victoria will open again on Saturday to serve the needy families of the area. Sounding a call for help, the co-ordinator, Mrs. E. E. Harper, 5695 Patricia Bay Highway, promises help where transportation might be a problem.

"January is a difficult month for our families as vegetables are scarce and very expensive," said Mrs. Harper. "It is hoped that many will find something to contribute to the first Surplus Food Stall day this year."

Any wishing to donate may contact Mrs. Harper at 658-8177, and arrangements will be made to collect items where necessary.

PLEA TO ASSOCIATION

Dry Lands End Area Sounds Call For Help

Deep Cove Property Owners' Association was asked this week to back the Lands End Road "Water Line-Life Line" campaign with deeds and dollars.

In a letter to Association's acting president, Lieut.-Col. George Paulin, T. Ronald Harris, 1262 Lands End Road, chairman of the newly-organized Lands End Road water committee, sought support from the ratepayers' organization whose jurisdiction embraces virtually all of the Lands End Road area.

"Mindful of the long-range benefits to be derived from an assured water supply," Harris stated, "this committee, on behalf of all ratepayers of Lands End Road, herewith asks the Deep Cove Property Owners Association for assistance—financial and clerical—in obtaining Deep Cove Water District water service for Lands End Road.

"We request that a grant of not less than $25 be given the committee for this purpose. As a precedent, may we cite the able assistance of the North Sidney Property Owners' Association in obtaining extension of DCWD service to Curteis Point."

A seven-month campaign by the North Sidney Association was climaxed last week with the acceptance and approval by the Deep Cove Water District trustees for installation of water mains throughout the Curteis Point vicinity as part of the federal winter works program.

Waiting

Claremont school extension will be ready in about a month, trustees of Saanich School District learned on Monday evening. Trustee Culbert Brown reported that a radiator was awaited now.

It is to be delivered from New York and is of stainless steel.

Who Is Windsor?

JOHN WINDSOR

Who is Windsor? For the past several weeks a column has appeared in The Review, "Wit's End, by Windsor". Windsor needs little introduction.

He is John Windsor, Brentwood author and veteran. Already a prolific writer, he gained national note with his new autobiography, Blind Date, several years ago. In his book he describes his loss of sight in Italy and his long struggle to acceptance.

John Windsor has never lost his sense of humor. A good companion and a happy character, his good spirits are evident in much of his writing. Wit's End will continue as a regular weekly feature.

Meeting Is Hostile As Brief Charges Farmers Ignored

—Seventeen Are Submitted

Orderly meeting of more than 400 people listened to the presentation of 17 briefs at a planning meeting in North Saanich secondary school on Tuesday evening.

Taylor Appointed

Sidney Commissioner Douglas Taylor on Monday was appointed official council delegate to the annual meeting of the Sidney and North Saanich Community Hall Association. Saanich annual meeting and election of officers will be held Monday, Jan. 25 at 8 p.m.

Expressions of opinion were offered on the plan for the area evolved by the Capital Region Planning Board. Majority of speakers were in favor of the plan without change. A number called for the plan with some changes and a few sought its entire abolition.

While the call for orderly development characterized most speakers, it was the degree of development visualized which proved the stumbling block.

Meeting heard sharp criticisms of development and developers. F. C. Adams received loud applause for his reference to the "greed" of speculators out for "the old fast buck". Without the plan there is no future for North Saanich, he stated.

People who would choose an urban environment should not live in North Saanich, Ian McPhee told the meeting.

Masterful presentation by Dr. H. Hartmanshenn was marred by an unruly audience. Dr. Hartmanshenn suggested that because planning is good it was not automatic that this plan was good.

The Plan for North Saanich is a deception of the public and a deliberate attempt to fool the public, she charged. Its acceptance would be a social, aesthetic, economic and community disaster, she asserted.

MISREPRESENTATION

The plan was a brazen misrepresentation, said Dr. Hartmanshenn on the grounds that it purports to protect farmland and woodland while providing for the rezoning of her own 30-acre farm to one-acre residential property, and at the same time rezoning residential property now occupied as such to farming. Furthermore the farmers concerned have not been consulted, she added.

The doctor explained that there are farmers today who want to farm and to whom the allure of speculation does not exist. The planners have ignored such a possibility, she alleged.

She gained applause when she stated that two-acre lots are too small to farm and too large for gardening.

While the planners look at North Saanich from the narrow viewpoint of residential properties the farmland is neglected, continued her brief.

The farmer who sells now is exercising poor judgment, she suggested. The price available today will be "peanuts" in a few years, she told the meeting.

Dr. Hartmanshenn proceeded to analyze the economics of farming in the Pacific coast region of the United States. She forecast that within a few years the cost of food will have risen to the point where home-produced food will be cheaper than imports. When that state comes about farmland will be at a premium, she suggested.

North Saanich, with its lush soil and temperate climate will be sought as a producer of food and an employer of labor, she forecast.

ABSENTEE LANDLORDISM

The speaker went on to the problems of large holdings in the possession of distant owners. Non-resident farmers were bad for the economy, she charged.

"This is still Saanich... the Fruitful Country," she commented. The audience was growing restive at this point and the noise of stamping feet and catcalls drowned out the doctor's words.

Dr. Hartmanshenn's final recommendations were heard by only a small section of the crowded hall.

M. R. Eaton then rose to ask that speeches be limited to two hours.

Lon Chumey, in a brief road by Don South, of the minister's staff, stated that the Dean Park Property Owners' Association was not against development, but could not recognize the need at the present time.

Dr. A. B. Nash, chairman of the advisory planning commission in North Saanich, spoke as a private citizen.

He was bitter against development of property in North Saanich and spoke of the plan as a "holwart against urbanization."

USE ANY WEAPON

The proponents of the plan will fight for the retention of the present amenities here, he stated and... Continued on Page Four

ROCKY HILL MOVED

CREWS WORKING IN DEEP MUD TO EXPAND FACILITIES AT SWARTZ BAY

Seventeen men and 13 pieces of heavy equipment are presently moving a hill in North Saanich to make way for a new ferry slip and parking lot.

Work is being pushed despite miserable working conditions so that expansion of ferry facilities at Swartz Bay can be completed by June 1.

Crews are working in deep mud hauling tons of rock and soil to make way for a new 345-car parking lot and ferry dock to accommodate a fifth ferry on the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen run.

Excavations have been under way for the past six weeks and should be finished by the middle of February, said Foreman Doug. Joss.

MOSTLY ROCK

Present work involves levelling a hill to the east of the present parking lot along Dolphin Road. Mr. Joss estimates that 60 per cent of this hill is solid rock.

When excavating is completed by the contractors, Nanaimo Bulldozing, in February, construction of a new operating dock and re-location and reconstruction of the existing layover berth and Gulf Islands ferry dock, will commence along with paving of the new parking lot.

Work program is designed to double the operating capacity of the Swartz Bay terminal.

Work must be completed by early June when the new Queen of Burnaby is delivered to the ferry authority for service on the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay run. Another ship will be shifted from this route to the local island-mainland run.

HALF-HOUR SERVICE

Addition of a new ferry slip here and a fifth ferry will permit half-hourly service between Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay during peak periods of activity in the summer tourist months.

Mainland ferry traffic has not been inconvenienced as yet by the expansion work. However, patrons of the small Gulf Islands ferries must pass through a road covered with varying depths of mud to reach the dock. Man is on duty each time a ferry comes in to shovel a path through the mud for foot passengers.

Rock and earth from the hill is being dumped as fill for the new dock behind the present waiting rooms for mainland traffic.

Equipment being utilized in the hill-moving project is valued at some $500,000 and includes three bulldozers, two huge front-end loaders, seven dump trucks and a compressed-air rig for cracking open the rock.

Homes that were well hidden in the bush down Dolphin Road will soon find themselves adjacent to the busy terminal.

Present parking facilities at the terminus, overlaid since the complex was first constructed, are now even more cramped as the new work has usurped much of the parking area. Situation was extremely bad over the Christmas-New Year holiday period when ferry patrons were forced to leave their cars parked illegally along the road.

This resulted in six cars being towed away by police when workmen returned after the holiday. All parking problems should be solved by the new facilities.

SUNDAY SERVICE

Miss Linda Douma, Miss Canada, accompanied by her mother and friend, attended the 11:30 o'clock service at United Church, Sunday morning.

Air Canada Shows Increase In Traffic From Pat Bay

Air Canada flights between Victoria and Vancouver and Seattle kept a step ahead of the national plane in 1964 with an increase in traffic of 8.2 per cent over the previous year. Number of passengers carried on all scheduled Air Canada flights increased five per cent.

District Sales Manager Stan Mooney said Air Canada carried 61,427 passengers out from Patricia Bay Airport in 1964. Traffic to Vancouver showed a 10 per cent gain while Seattle traffic was up by 15 per cent. Figures for inward-bound travellers compared favorably with these figures in 1964.

Heavy increase was recorded in the number of passengers flying from Patricia Bay to connect with overseas flights in Vancouver. During 1964, there were 970 people making such connections, an increase from 1963 of 29.5 per cent.

FOLLOWS TREND

Gain noted last year here follows the trend of the past few years. But totals of the past several years are well below figures chalked up before the introduction of the provincial government ferries.

Before the ferries were pressed into service after the C.P.R. strike, Air Canada, or Trans Canada Airlines as it was then known, carried some 100,000 passengers annually between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

Peak year for the airline was 1958 when many ferry patrons were forced to travel to the mainland by air during the C.P.R. ferry strike. In that year, approximately 160,000 passengers were carried by TCA.

Currently, Air Canada operates six daily flights between Vancouver and Victoria in the summer with five flights in the winter. Daily Seattle flights are three in the summer and two in the winter.

POOR WEATHER

Mr. Mooney noted that the 1964 totals were up over the 1963 figures despite a long session of poor weather last December when many flights were cancelled.

Sand And Headlights Don't Mix

R.C.M.P. at Sidney have cautioned motorists to check their headlights for possible damage caused by sand.

Police said many headlights have been shattered or cracked by sand which was put on the roads during snowy and icy weather of the past few weeks.

Caution was also urged at intersections where sand lying on the road makes quick starts impossible.

At Brentwood, a stone flicked up by a passing car was thought responsible for cracking a large window at Brentwood Laundromat over the week-end. Break in a corner of the window was noticed by owner Gordon Battler on Monday morning.

Afternoon Branch of St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity W.A., met in St. Andrew's Hall on January 6 with 20 members present. The president opened the meeting by reading Ephesians 3:1 to 12.

Educational secretary spoke on the subject of mutual responsibility. Mrs. Davis provided variety by having Mrs. McQuarrie read the biblical texts when they occurred.

Mrs. Young brought news of Mr. and Mrs. Briggs, travelling to southern California. They were fortunate in taking the last train before an important bridge was washed out by the floods.

The president received Christmas cards from Mrs. Woodhouse and Mrs. Anderson in England. Letters were received from Mrs. Pyle, Mrs. Aiers and Miss Melke thanking the branch for cards.

Card of congratulation was sent Mrs. J. M. H. Harding on her 94th birthday.

Mrs. Sowerby received a letter from the prayer partner, thanking the branch for calendar and seasonal greetings. Mrs. Skinner brought yarn from the dorecas department and asked that it be used to knit toques for children six years of age and older.

Mrs. Pearson reported the board meeting held in December in St. Mark's Church. In spite of foul weather and roads, eight members had attended.

A highlight of that meeting was the resolution supporting the diocese of New Westminster in commending the action of the minister of education in refusing to delete scripture reading and the Lord's Prayer from the schools.

Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch told the meeting that a council of local Protestant churches has been organized to consider sponsoring a Billy Graham Crusade in Victoria. Roman Catholics have been asked to send observers. A concert of sacred music has been arranged to raise funds for the crusade. It will be held in Central junior high school featuring George Beverly Shea.

A parish educational three-hour institute will be conducted by Youth Worker Miss Clarke on Sunday evening. The congregational pot luck supper will be held January 24.

The meeting closed with prayers after which the hostesses, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Grimsrud served tea.

Jonathan Lloyd Slater Christened

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, Canon F. C. Vaughan-Birch officiated at the christening of Jonathan Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Slater, Vancouver.

The gown in which the baby was christened was 62 years old and worn by three generations of Jonathan Slaters. Godparents were Ron Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Morley, of Vancouver.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Jonathan's grandmother, Mrs. A. Slater, Shoreacre Road. Here for the occasion was the baby's great-grandmother, Mrs. G. H. Slater, formerly of Sidney and now of Victoria.

HUGE DOLPHIN IS MAIN STAR OF "FLIPPER"

"Flipper," a fascinating story of the friendship between a boy and a dolphin that was filmed in the Florida Keys and the Bahamas, will be shown at the Gem Theatre in Sidney this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Chuck Connors and 12-year-old Luke Halpin are the human stars of this picture, but the title role is taken by a seven-foot-long, 300-pound dolphin.

Friendship between the youngster and the sea mammal develops after the boy finds the dolphin impaled on a spear and caught on a reef. He nurses it back to good health, and the grateful dolphin becomes a firm buddy. Sequences in the movie include close-ups of the mysterious finned world beneath the seas; a Special three-day excursion fare of $9 return to Vancouver and Seattle introduced last June 1 was also credited with boosting 1964 figures. National figures for 1964 were also gratifying for the airline.

After all debt service charges Air Canada will achieve a profit in 1964 for the 11th time in the past 14 years, while its gross revenues for the year will top the $200,000,000 mark for the first time, said President G. R. McGregor.

The number of passengers carried on scheduled Air Canada flights increased five per cent to 4,070,000, while passengers travelling on charter flights, principally on trans-Atlantic routes, rose nine per cent to 91,000 in 1964.

Biggest increases were recorded on the Atlantic services—19 per cent. North American revenue passenger miles increased three per cent, particularly significant in that 93 per cent of the airline's total passenger traffic is carried on these routes. Traffic to Bermuda, Nassau and the islands of the Caribbean increased only slightly.

The airline flew 2,889,000,000 scheduled passenger miles in 1964, an increase of seven per cent over 1963.

During 1964 the airline began the introduction of its change of name to Air Canada with new corporate colors and symbols.

CARRIED QUEEN
Air Canada became the first non-United Kingdom carrier to fly a overseas journey when, on October 13, the first aircraft to be painted reigning British monarch on an in the new livery, a DC-8 jetliner, carried Queen Elizabeth II from Ottawa to London, Eng.

On April 1, 1964, Air Canada marked the 25th anniversary of inauguration of scheduled transcontinental air service in Canada. Starting with a single daily flight in each direction between Vancouver and Montreal, with stops at Lethbridge, Regina, Winnipeg, Kapuskasing, North Bay, Toronto and Ottawa on April 1, 1939, the airline operated in 1964 up to five return flights a day across Canada with 131-passenger DC-8 jets, plus additional turbo-prop Vanguard flights.

OLYMPICS
Another highlight of 1964 for Air Canada took place in the fall when it participated in one of the most complex communications ventures in history between October 10 and 24, carrying video tape of the Olympic Games between Montreal and Hamburg, Germany, on 15 daily consecutive chapter flights. Millions of Europeans in 19 nations saw the games on television following relay of pictures by satellite from Tokyo to California, by micro-wave from California to Montreal and by Air Canada to Hamburg.

TOTAL OF 114 YEARS

Long Membership In Orange Lodge Recognized Saturday

Life memberships were conferred on two members of the Orange Lodge at Saanichton last Saturday afternoon in recognition of their long membership.

Honored at the special meeting were George H. Taylor, of 10001 Fifth St., Sidney, and Albert K. Hemstreet, 7709 East Saanich Road, who have a combined membership of 114 years.

Mr. Taylor, now 80 years of age, joined Lodge No. 586 in 1906 at Southampton, Ont. His father was a master of this lodge before Mr. Taylor was old enough to join.

Mr. Taylor has been a member of the Saanichton Lodge since he moved to Sidney 23 years ago.

Before coming here he lived in Saskatchewan, first homesteading south of Swift Current and later running a garage and taxi for 13 years at Prince Albert. When he gave up the taxi and garage, he turned to carpentry which he had learned as a boy in Ontario.

AT OWEN SOUND

Mr. Hemstreet joined the Orange Lodge at the age of 18 in Owen Sound, Ont., in June, 1908.

A resident of the interior of B.C. for many years before coming to Saanichton, Mr. Hemstreet was master of the Smithers Lodge for three years. He has been a member of the 75-year-old Saanichton Lodge since 1947, including nine years as master.

Two other long memberships in the Orange Lodge were recalled by Mr. Taylor. He tells of Robert Edwards of Calgary who was awarded a gold medal for never missing a meeting in 55 years with the lodge. Another member at the age of 94 still regularly walked a mile to the meetings as he had been doing for 60 years.

FROM NEWFOUNDLAND

Special meeting called by the lodge to make the presentations to Mr. Taylor and Mr. Hemstreet was attended by some 60 members coming from the surrounding district and Victoria. WIT'S END by WINDSOR

There is nothing more exhilarating than starting the New Year with a bang, or more correctly, a splash. Arriving home rather late, after helping to usher in 1965, we were awakened rather early.

It was my own fault because, in a mad moment, I had brought back one of those extra loud party noise makers, and left it by my son's bed. Some fathers are all heart. With the dawn, he started to do what came naturally and we abandoned all further hope of sleep.

If you remember New Year's dawn, you will recall that it was raining, not the gentle dew that falleth from heaven but a red-blooded North American downpour that made the gutter pipes sound like Niagara Falls on a busy day. Our skating rink, that we had built the previous day on the strength of the long-range weather forecast promising a month of cold, was now a sort of inland sea and growing larger by the moment.

Then my daughter Judith rushed upstairs with the glad tidings, "there's water coming in the basement."

REACTION

As a family we react to this in much the same manner as a submarine's crew, when the klaxon blasts a warning that some unfriendly topside destroyer is gallily peppering them with depth charges.

Everybody rushes frantically in all directions at once, making the welkin ring with orders and counter orders. Like Mr. Hellyer in Ottawa, I sometimes have the feeling that there are too many generals and not enough privates.

Finally though, we got things sorted out, with my wife and daughter forming a bucket and mop brigade downstairs, while Stephen and I dashed out into the downpour, armed with shovels, to try and coax a raging torrent out of our garden and back into the ditch that the municipality had so carefully prepared for its reception.

For some unknown reason, small boys seem to love the drama and excitement of this kind of situation, and my son is no exception. He had a wonderful time, breaking up ice jams, shovelling snow, and digging drainage canals, while I made my unhappy way to what seemed to be the edge of the ditch, it was under about six inches of water, and began poking a stick half heartedly into the culvert.

Maybe the edge was slippery, maybe it had moved in the night, or maybe I was a trifle shaky at that hour of the morning, but suddenly I was sitting in knee-deep water with little chunks of ice bobbing

MRS. R. MORRISON NAMED TO HEAD UNITED CHURCH WOMEN

Annual meeting of the Brentwood U.C.W. was held last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ron Morrison.

The meeting had been postponed from December because of the bad weather, which was not too favorable for this meeting and there were only eight members present.

The president, Mrs. H. Simpson, opened the meeting with the reading of the 91st Psalm and a prayer for the New Year. A prayer was also read, written by a former associate member, Mrs. R. J. Parsell, who passed away recently.

It was decided to send a resolution to the Victoria city council protesting the sale of alcoholic beverages in the McPherson Playhouse, which is being debated at the present time. Donations are being sent to the Union College, Burnaby Home for Girls, and the John Milton Society, also $100 to the Church Manse Building Fund.

The piano committee reported that a piano for the church had been purchased.

Election of officers took place resulting as follows: president, Mrs. W. R. G. Morrison; vice-president, Mrs. H. Simpson; secretary and corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. E. Hindley; treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Duncan.

Committee conveners are: sewing, Mrs. Sam Brasher; visiting and friendship, Mrs. W. Crothers and Mrs. L. C. Johnston; devotional, Mrs. W. P. Nicol; flowers for church, Mrs. E. T. Edwards.

A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers for their work during the past year. Mrs. W. Battler assisted the hostess in serving refreshments after the close of the meeting. There will be no other meeting in January, the next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 17.

TWO INJURED WHEN CAR LANDS IN DITCH

Two people suffered cuts last Thursday in a one-car accident on Keating Cross Road.

Car driven by Marjorie Louise Fielding, 6342 Oldfield Road, went out of control after passing another car as it was proceeding west on Keating, and came to rest on its side in the ditch on the south side of the road, said Central Saanich police. The driver and a passenger, Anne Van-Londersele, were released after treatment for cuts at hospital in Victoria. Another passenger in the car, Mrs. Fielding's four-year-old daughter, was uninjured. Damage to the car was estimated at $450.

Police said the car was owned by Douglas Thomas, also of 6342 Oldfield. Charges may be laid by police in connection with the accident.

playfully about. What some people will do for kicks.

TORRENT TAMED

By the time the torrent had been tamed, and the water 'round the house satisfactorily diverted so as to give our neighbor full downstream benefits, the mopping up operation in the basement was almost complete, except for the two rubber bootsful of H₂O. that I inadvertently added. As I tried to explain, it was only another quart or so, but you know how unreasonable women can be at times.

Oh well, there's nothing like having a year that lets you know right at the beginning, just how it's going to treat you.

Saanich Member Wants Change

BREAKING a lengthy silence on the subject of highways, Mr. John D. Tisdalle, Saanich M.L.A., has called for improvements to the Patricia Bay Highway.

The member of the provincial legislature not only announced his plans to ask the government for improvements to the highway, but took a stand opposing Saanich municipal council members who have asked for suppression of the long-awaited roads survey. Municipal representatives wanted the recent survey of area highways kept under covers until it had been thoroughly examined by the officials of various island municipalities.

Mr. Tisdalle has urged its immediate release and attention this year to highway needs.

Mr. Tisdalle's sudden burst into print is notable for two reasons. Since a wave of deaths on Patricia Bay Highway last year, which brought a sharp concern to this area over the hazard of the highway, Mr. Tisdalle had not previously made any statement on the subject.

The Saanich member is a member of the Social Credit government. He is a good supporter of his own party. He is critical of Patricia Bay Highway.

His current announcement that he wants to see improvements to the highway should be adequate answer to those critics who have felt that only political opponents should raise their voices in criticism of the highway.

If Mr. Tisdalle can agree that conditions require immediate attention, then the earlier critics of our policy might well examine their own consciences before taking such a stand on problems of safety in the community. We have long contended that this is not a political matter and Mr. Tisdalle's stand now proves it.

Patricia Bay Highway is a dangerous highway and we want to see that condition corrected.

Secret Service Style

HISTORY has shown that the general public is not vitally concerned with school matters. In Sidney this year no candidate appeared for the vacancy on the school board. In North Saanich and Central Saanich the trustees were re-elected without a fight when no other ratepayer cared to contest the election.

A long record of apathy does not, however, justify any administrative secrecy.

On Monday evening a number of people attended a meeting of Saanich School District board of trustees. They left within a few minutes, having learned little or nothing.

Traditionally there are certain matters which are customarily dealt with in committee. Again, by tradition, the majority of public business is dealt with in the open.

It is to be fervently hoped that Monday evening's procedure is not setting a pattern. If trustees wish to gain greater expedition they must devise methods which do not sacrifice public awareness. The administration must not become a secret service.

Plan For North Saanich Debated

will use any weapon to fight despoliation.

Dr. Nash attacked a brief submitted by the Deep Cove Property Owners' Association and probed into its preparation. Deep Cove brief was not read at the meeting owing to the inability of Col. George Paulin to attend.

He finished with a challenge to the supporters of the brief. How many could stand and solemnly declare that they did not stand to gain financially from the proposals made? he asked.

In conclusion, Dr. Nash asked for a tighter control of development by the elimination of the lots of a size less than a half-acre.

Cmdr. S. E. Soward, former commanding officer of the navy's VU 33 Squadron at Patricia Bay, wrote from the east to state that he owned a 50-acre tract on Cloak Hill which was scheduled for zoning as a park, despite his plans, already tentatively filed, for its subdivision into the permissible two-acre lots. He asked what were his plans to be now and what compensation was he to receive for the loss of his land.

10-ACRE PARCELS
R. J. Casson urged the approval of subdivision on property adjacent to urban areas and the zoning of other property to a minimum 10-acre parcel. He visualized the undesirable development of two-acre properties throughout North Saanich.

Mr. Casson was speaking at 10 p.m., two hours after the meeting opened. By this time elements in the audience were becoming slightly unruly again.

W. Cole, of Chuliet Road, described the plan as unjust and asked for a consideration of North Saanich on its own merits, severed from the capital region.

He was seeking orderly development, not to stop development, he explained.

There are principles behind this planning which transcend the effects on individual properties, he suggested.

"We are delivering the rights of ownership into the hands of cranks," he stated. If trees are to be forcibly retained then they should be forcibly removed from the waterfront to permit other people than property owners to see the sea, he suggested.

Alan Smith suggested the Dean Park project was a "better proposition than the planning people seem to think". But if it were allowed where would it stop? he asked.

RESENT PLANNERS
"I resent bureaucratic planners moving in and telling me what I can do with my land," stated Llewellyn King. He accused the board planners of speaking with a forked tongue. If people want green belts and seclusion, they should buy them, asserted the former M.L.A. for Port George.

He cited the Dean Park development. Those most closely affected are in favor of the development, he told the meeting.

"The basic issue strikes at the roots of democracy," he thundered across the still hall, "with the right of the individual to control his own destiny."

The planners want authority to plan others' lives without the accompanying responsibilities, he asserted.

"I speak for all the ordinary people of North Saanich," said the native of Hill Top, "I know how they feel. I am one of them."

Anthony Roberts, director of the Capital Region Planning Board, stated that the principles behind the plan are sound, details may well be changed.

He outlined the details of recommended lot control. Rural zoning into two-acre lots is a temporary measure and neither payment nor compensation for loss of development rights is contemplated, he stated.

Mr. Roberts repeated his earlier stand that development in the southern areas should be completed before venturing north.

There is no financial hardship, stated the planner, in view of the steady rise in real estate values

Songs And Soliloquies, by Margaret Hurdon Keifer. Vantage Press. 63 pp. $2.

Poetry, like beauty, lies in the eye of the beholder. In school each grudging student learns the basic requirements of education and leaves the classroom a literary genius filled with the one determined, damned decision that never again will he read a line of verse.

Unfortunately, the majority follow this determination through out their lives. Rhyme and rhythm are part of our heritage. Every child has the makings of a poet, but only few retain it.

Mrs. Keifer has grown up with the song of poetry and the song of music. She is both poet and singer. Starting out from Fort William, in Ontario, she has moved steadily westwards until she is now a Victorian. A professional singer, she has been a member of the choir and soloist at Metropolitan United Church in her chosen home town.

Mrs. Keifer's son-in-law is Rodney Webster also known in music circles around Victoria. He has taught music to many Saanich youngsters.

This book shows that Mrs. Keifer is as skilled in the literary arts as her accomplishments have proved her to be in music. It is a pleasing little book of brief thoughts in verse.

The writer has chosen brevity as a part of her presentation. In few instances has she lost by this choice.—F.G.R.

Sewage Disposal Biggest Requirement, Says Reeve Lee

Sewage disposal system was cited as the most important service required in Central Saanich, by Reeve R. G. Lee in his inaugural address to council on Tuesday evening.

For several years our most urbanized area, namely the Brentwood area, through the use of septic tanks has created not only a most unsatisfactory situation, but also a disturbing degree of pollution, a situation which left unattended over the past 20 years.

The board wants to encourage the maximum growth in the area, but urges that it be orderly, well-planned expansion, he concluded.

Meeting was chaired by Deputy Minister J. E. Brown. Petitions and briefs will be examined by the minister who will reach a decision later on the Plan for North Saanich as visualized by the Capital Region Planning Board.

"all things were created by Him and for Him." Col. 1:17b.

It is almost a certainty that you have said sometime in your lifetime that life is futile. In the endless routine of just keeping up the housework or earning the income to keep the household solvent you've lost sight of the real purpose of living. Or did you ever realize that there was any purpose in living? If you think only of yourself as you work around the house then you will become discontented and rebel but if you see your task as one of love to your family in making a plan for them then you see purpose and your task is meaningful and life is enjoyable. The same applies to the wage earner and the way he looks at life. To live for self is drudgery—to live for others is life.

The Bible reveals the ultimate in living when it states the highest purpose in life, to live for God. If all there was in this life was to live out a physical existence and then pass into oblivion how dull this life would be and to many this is the way they see life. But in reality God has made us for Himself, we are given free choice as to whether or not we wish to live for Him and upon our choice our eternal destiny is determined. To put purpose in your life choose Christ as your Saviour, live for others as He set the example and you will reap the reward of eternal life. Reject Him, live only for yourself and He will be obliged to also reject you and you will live eternally without Him in the place "prepared for the devil and his angels."

Put purpose in your life and accept Christ as your Saviour. (Jn. 3:16)

HAPPY WANDERER RETURNS

He Gave Up Everything To Start Life Of Travel With His Family

After the feast comes the reckoning. George Vincent's feast was a 50,000-mile trek throughout South America with his family. The reckoning is the discipline of sitting at his typewriter, recording his venturesome travels.

Traveller Vincent sits in North Saanich to finish his stint at the machine. In between pages he speaks over the radio, appears on television and speaks at various public halls.

George Vincent threw everything away when he had it made. He was sitting at the top of his own particular ladder when the scent of success began to smother him. In one snap of the fingers he abandoned his work, his position and security. Armed with his life's savings, a wife and two children, he set out on a trek across South America.

Two years ago he knew nothing of South America beyond the polite tourist's experience. His Spanish was that of the classroom. Today he is an acknowledged authority on many aspects of Latin America and an accomplished linguist.

FAR NORTH
An Englishman who was educated in England, Nova Scotia and British Columbia, Mr. Vincent was with a survey party in the far north during his student days. Initially teaching high school, he left Victoria before World War Two and returned to England. He entered the field of public relations there and continued with it in the army during the war.

By 1963 he was public relations executive with a large Canadian company and resided in West Vancouver.

Attracted by the prospect of endless wanderings and camping where opportunity presented itself, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent decided to throw aside conventional demands of security and success. With a three-year-old and a nine-month-old baby, they set out to walk, hitch-hike and ride across South America.

In more than a year of wandering they met thousands of people, made many good friends, walked thousands of miles and congratulated themselves on their escape from western respectability.

REVOLUTION
They have been in the midst of revolution and attacked and beaten by bandits. Jane Vincent was nearly carried off by a wild hill-billy and they have watched their two children play with savage Indian children where no white man had previously been seen.

If George Vincent today can evince some scorn for the conventional form of living, who can blame him? He and his family have really lived.

In the southern hemisphere, the family were entertained by the Chilean navy and were formally introduced to Cape Horn aboard ... Continued on Page Six icy for increase in street lighting under a new formula which will be available to the municipality by March by B.C. Hydro.

Referring to by-laws, the reeve said there are three of outstanding importance that will come before council this year:

1. A by-law to allow for the setting-up of a reserve for replacement and acquisition of equipment, to allow a spread of capital costs over a number of years;
2. Revision of existing building by-laws and consideration of adopting in part or whole of a National Building Code;
3. Study and consideration of adopting in part or whole of the National Fire Code.

ASK INCREASE
The reeve said he will request councillors to increase their indemnity as "in my opinion they receive very inadequate compensation".

Members of council were also asked to consider improved drainage facilities as a priority item in the face of rapid urbanization.

Reeve Lee said he anticipated that a zoning plan will be presented to Central Saanich through the Capital Region Planning Board this year, and council will be required to consider its recommendations.

The reeve forecast that an additional 40 to 50 connections will be made in 1965 to the Central Saanich water system, which now has 232 connections. There were 45 new connections last year.

Meetings To Be Taped

Meetings of Sidney village council will be tape recorded in the future.

Motion of Commissioner Douglas Taylor on Monday evening that a tape recorder be purchased at a cost not to exceed $500 and that all council meetings be recorded, was carried with only Commissioner J. G. Mitchell casting a negative vote. Motion was seconded by Commissioner A. Boas.

In proposing his motion, Mr. Taylor said that recording the meetings verbatim could often solve problems of "who said what". The recorder would supplement, but could not replace, minutes taken by the village clerk.

Commissioner Mitchell based his objection to the recorder by saying that it would tend to stop councillors from speaking their minds. It was noted that tape recorders have been tried unsuccessfully by some municipal councils, while others continue to utilize them.

Sidney Gets Off Lightly

Compared to other British Columbia communities, Sidney has got off very lightly so far this winter in snow removal costs.

Council Chairman A. A. Cormack said Monday that snow removal over the past few weeks had cost the village only $217.50.

Many other municipalities in the province have exhausted their snow removal budgets and are now faced with spiralling costs as the cold, snowy weather persists.

Fire Chief

New fire chief has been elected by Central Saanich Volunteer Fire Department.

Don Facey was elected by the firemen on Monday to succeed retiring fire chief C. E. "Larry" Rowley.

Douglas chiefs elected were Maurice Mitchell and Bill Hamilton, and captains are Dave Allen, Ken Mollet, Ed. Morgan and Fred Wood.

Election of the new officers was approved by Central Saanich council on Tuesday evening.

Garbage Collection Charge Raised

Sidney village council was informed on Monday by Sidney Cleanup Service that charges for garbage collections will be increased from $568 per month to $664 per month this year due to an increase in the number of homes in the village. Information was accepted without comment.

Salt Spring Library Is Near End Of Indebtedness

Building fund deficit of Salt Spring Public Library Association may disappear before the next annual meeting, members were told at the 1965 meeting held at Ganges last week.

Officials said the $6,000 deficit was cut to $1,400 during the past year and the board hopes the latter amount will be written off before next December 31.

Mrs. R. T. Cook and Mrs. H. T. Minchin were elected to two-year terms on the five-member board and a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. S. H. Hawkins, a board member who was a prime mover in the formation and development of the library.

The library began in 1959 with premises in Moutat Bros.' store and has been supported by volunteer effort and staffed by volunteer librarians since its inception. It moved last February 1 to its own building on McPhillips Ave., Ganges. Membership includes 300 adults and a large number of juniors. Summer visitors have sent donations of

Sisters Meet After 40 Years Separation

Two sisters have been reunited at Pender Island after a separation of 40 years.

They are Mrs. N. Grimmer and Miss Madge Durack of London, England.

Miss Durack has paid her first visit to her sister and is now staying on an indefinite holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Grimmer.

Institute

Pender Island Women's Institute held the regular meeting on January 6 at Mrs. Cornaby's home. Due to the weather, many members were unable to attend.

Do You Remember . . .

If you don't remember the "good old days" then the thing to do is catch the Vancouver show. Some of Those Days, where styles, personalities, fads and tunes from the past are recalled each Thursday on CBC-TV. Giving out with a toe-tapping oldie are (L. to R.) Betty Hilker, Barney Potts and Roma Hearn, backed by the Barbershop Quartet.

Are you one of the thousands of Canadians to get increased dividends again this year from Mutual Life?

Mr. James: I'm happy to say I am.
Interviewer: Did you know that this is the tenth time in the past twelve years that The Mutual Life has increased dividends?

Mr. James: I haven't been keeping score—but I know Mutual Life's dividend record is tops.

Interviewer: This year's dividends totalling $17,900,000 represent an increase of $1,400,000 over the amount paid in 1964. And the interest rate on accumulated dividends has been increased to 5%.

Representative: Vernon A. Ridgway, C.L.U.

Mr. James: You know, with earnings like that I might even consider increasing my coverage!

Interviewer: It's a good idea to review your life insurance regularly to make sure it meets current needs. Just get in touch with your Mutual Life representative.

PROVINCIAL FLOWERS ARE DISTINCTIVE EMBLEMS

By DORIS LEEDHAM HOBBS

Of course we all know the flower emblem of our province of British Columbia—the Dogwood—but do we know which flowers belong especially to all the other provinces of our great Dominion?

Let us start with Newfoundland—that great island which few people know has a time zone all its own—a half-hour ahead of Atlantic Time! Well, the provincial flower is the strange fly and insect-eating one called the Pitcher Plant.

In this "Great Island" we mark the first colonial government of Britain overseas when the flag of Elizabeth I was unfurled on King's Beach in the harbor of St. John's, 381 years ago.

Next—Prince Edward Island, the Cradle of Confederation. The provincial flower is the dainty Lady's Slipper.

Nova Scotia, where John Cabot planted the British flag in 1497—where Champlain built Fort Royal under the French flag in 1605. The provincial flower is the Mayflower.

New Brunswick chose the Blue Violet for its symbol while Quebec as is natural chose its provincial flower in the White Lily.

Ontario has for its special flower one very familiar to us all here on the west coast, the Trillium.

Manitoba, which boasts the largest city of the plains—Winnipeg—has the Crocus for its emblem.

Saskatchewan's emblem is the Prairie Lily.

Alberta has one of the most charming of provincial emblems in the Wild Rose . . . the Dog Rose in the Old Country so reminiscent of hedgerows and countryside.

FEET UP!

An old sea tradition, reports Mr. Vincent, permits the family to place their feet on the wardrobe table and leave their top buttons undone. This is the reward for a successful voyage around the horn.

While George Vincent writes his experiences, Jane Vincent has completed the major part of her task. Photographer during the 50,000-mile journey, she can take no more pictures and merely shows what she has accomplished. Her score was 7,000 pictures, some color transparencies, some black and white.

The former public relations man is offering a series of lectures in Oak Bay junior high school, commencing January 21. There will be four lectures and they will cover the outline of the long trip. Later, the Vincent book will appear and the family will set out again for another feast of travel.

Ganges War Memorial To Be Moved

Salt Spring Island's War Memorial, known as the Cenotaph and located at the main crossroads in Ganges, will be moved by the registered custodian, Branch 92, Royal Canadian Legion, to a new site at a date not specified.

Increasing traffic in the area necessitates the move.

Public notice of intent to move has been given by the Legion and any objections to the proposed move may be sent to the branch secretary at Ganges.

The Cenotaph was built in 1922 and unveiled on April 17 of the same year by Mrs. Frank L. Crofton, who, as a nursing sister, served with distinction overseas during the First World War.

SHAKESPEARIAN IS NEW TEACHER AT PENDER ISLAND

John Getgood commenced his duties as principal of the Pender Island school on Monday last week, when the schools re-opened for the spring term. Both he and his wife, Mary, have taught for many years in England and in B.C.

They have recently returned from the United States where they worked with the Oregon Shakespearean Festival at Ashland, Oregon.

Both are keenly interested in theatre. Mrs. Getgood has specialized in theatre with young people, and Mr. Getgood has produced and acted in many plays with adult and student groups.

Whilst in the United States Mr. Getgood worked on educational TV projects and recently completed a documentary film on the old town of Jacksonville in Southern Oregon. He has a Canadian Film award to his credit.

THEY WORKED HARD ON ROADS

Islanders are grateful to the provincial highway crews who have battled heavy snow and frigid weather during the past three weeks of hazardous conditions. They have worked early and late to keep roads open.

weed, that gorgeous flower which clothes great areas of what has been called the great "unwritten symphony".

And lastly, the Northwest Territories has a rather insignificant flower in the Mountain Avens—and, just for fun, see if you can remember the flower chosen as its special one by each of our provinces.

Here are three important reasons why it will pay you to renovate and redecorate your home now!

1 SKILLED MEN ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
Although more and more building is being done each winter, exterior construction does slow down during the cold weather. As a result, home improvement contractors and skilled craftsmen seek out the smaller interior jobs that they are unable to handle during the summer. You benefit—with skilled workmanship by experienced tradesmen when it's most convenient to you!

2 DISCOUNTS AND LOANS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
To create incentives that will balance their sales and keep their staff employed throughout the year, building supply dealers run winter sales. These special discounts help you renovate and redecorate at the lowest possible cost. You'll find your bank a good place to visit, too—for low interest Home Improvement Loans under the National Housing Act: up to $4,000.00, with up to ten years to repay!

3 MATERIALS ARE AVAILABLE—NOW!
When building slows down, materials become more readily available. Result: irritating delays in completing your job because of late delivery of supplies are eliminated!

There's no doubt about it. Winter is the very best time to spruce up your home (and your place of business)—quickly, efficiently, inexpensively!

CHARGES LEVIED AS WHARF SUPERVISOR APPOINTED

It is reported that O. Havroy, Churchill Road, has been appointed by federal department of transport as wharfinger at Ganges, in charge of the wharves both at the boat basin and the docks at the end of the causeway.

To support this service and to help maintain the facilities, moorage charges will be made on all boats using any wharf facilities, plus a charge for goods being shipped.

Michael, from North Vancouver, spent Sunday on Galiano. Mr. Zerebenos is one of the men who were stranded on the gulf side of the island in a small boat in November.

Twelfth Night at Galiano Lodge was most enjoyable, when about 30 people gathered to listen to the music and to eat Badesley Cake and Lambs Wool in the old tradition. Music chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Clarke was "La Belle France", "My Fair Lady" and choruses from famous operas.

Charges are in accordance with a set scale and depend on the type of vessel and its size and shape. Local boat owners using the wharf are eligible for a special monthly rate.

FULFORD

The annual meeting of the Fulford Hall committee will be held at the Fulford Hall on Thursday, Jan. 21 at 8 p.m. Reports and a discussion on the centennial project are on the agenda.

The South Salt Spring Island W.I. will meet at the home of Mrs. A. McManus, Sr., on Thursday, Jan. 14 at 2 p.m.

St. Mary's Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. L. Mollet on the afternoon of January 21 at 2.30 p.m.

Fred Koch, who has been living at the Maxwell Farm in Burgoyne Bay for three years, left on Saturday at 4 p.m. from Vancouver Airport, travelling by jet to Aachen, West Germany. He expected to arrive at his destination by noon on Sunday, Jan. 10, in time for a dinner and reunion with his family after an absence of four years.

GANGES

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Moutat, with Dan, returned to Camano, Washington, following a week-end visit with Mr. Moutat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Moutat, Ganges Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Shove returned to Ganges, Saturday, following a month's visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. Richard Stone, R.C.N., in Norfolk, Virginia. They travelled by air and visited in Toronto, Washington and New York en route.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Carroll have returned to their Beddis Road home following a two-week visit to Carmel, California, where they were the guests of Mr. Carroll's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helms.

LEGION MEMBERS HONORED

Two Pender Legionnaires were honored at the recent branch meeting.

Branch 239 of the Royal Canadian Legion, Pacific Command, met recently at the home of D. Brooks. Life memberships were bestowed on J. B. Bridge and J. Garrod, for devoted service to the Legion for a long period of time.

Bishop M. E. Coleman, chaplain of the branch, read the citations, and the badges were presented by the president, P. H. Grimmer.

J. B. Bridge was presented with a further award for over 25 years of continuous membership with Gulf Islands branch.

After the business meeting a social half-hour was held by the members.

Greek Setting Created By Players For Spring Play

By CRITIC
Setting of the spring production of the Peninsula Players is a departure from the usual drawing-room scene found in most plays.

This year, the Players have chosen "The Rape of the Belt", which has a Greek theme and setting.

Playwright Benn W. Levy has wrought an amusing and perhaps even a thought-provoking play concerning the battle of the sexes. He has indulged in a great deal of poetic fancy with various Greek and Amazonian characters, mixing them into a tongue-in-the-cheek comedy leaning at times to farce and certainly touched with fantasy.

For his ninth labour, Heracles (known to Romans as Hercules) is required to wrest from the proud Antiope, queen of the presumably warlike Amazons, her jeweled belt, symbol of her royalty. In this dangerous mission he is supported by his valiant but absent-minded friend, Theseus. The warriors can fight and overcome any enemy who can be brought to battle, but how to bring two charming women like Antiope and her sister, Hippolyte, to battle poses quite a problem.

Two spectators from their seats in heaven are Zeus and Hera who comment wittily on the events. Heracles wins the belt, of course. It is the plan of battle and the eventual securing of it that provides the excitement and wit of the play.

Already the Players are deep in research concerning Greek mythology and pronunciation—quite an education in itself!

Costumes, under the guidance of Vivian Cowan, provide another avenue of interesting research.

Under the direction of Nell North, "The Rape of the Belt" is one of the most challenging productions attempted by the Players. It will be presented on March 5 and 6, 1965.

A BEARD ABROAD

BY ED KETCHAM — OLD GULF ISLANDER

INSTALLMENT XIX

We have been in Guadalajara three times. And we shall never forget our first (not exactly triumphant) entry six years ago.

It was the first time we had driven in Mexico and we had come down through Laredo, Texas, in "The Beetle"—Volkswagen II. The first night was spent in Matamoros, south of Monterrey. Next morning we pushed off toward distant horizons without a clue of where we were going. When we got to San Luis Potosi we got a bonus: a choice. The road divided. To port the finger pointed "Mexico City"; to starboard, "Guadalajara."

Now we didn't know Guadalajara from the starboard ox of Adam but there were mountains on the horizon and it looked like a good road—so we chose Guadalajara. Somewhere along about Tepic (that's what it said on the sign board) dusk set in. From then on the scenery was but an endless unrolling of the hardtop strip we were driving and confusing combinations of lights.

CROWDS

Pretty soon the highway ribbon narrowed and low stucco walls sprang up on either side hemming us in, the lights became more frequent and brighter and pedestrians, handcars and burros fought for equal rights on the road.

Like a jack-in-the-box the road suddenly opened into a large plaza, walled on all four sides, and tables and chairs outside and, through great arches, inside as well. A humanity was teeming everywhere: senores, senoras, señoritas, muchachos and ninos—everywhere like a huge caldron boiling over; two or three mariachi bands were playing from different locations in the plaza (for this is the home of the mariachis), some groups were singing, others talking and gesticulating . . . in short all hell had let loose.

We didn't know it then, but we had driven into Tlaquepaque, a suburb of Guadalajara — and on Saturday night! Inside the walls of the plaza a 20-piece regular band was playing in the concert stand and the young folk had already begun the "paseo" round and round the perimeter of the area (remember? boys clockwise, girls counter). Outside, traffic policemen were frantically blowing whistles (seemingly aimlessly) trying to untangle the unholy bedlam.

Well, we finally tumbled that this wasn't our Guadalajara so we worked our way up to a sign that pointed "Guadalajara," then through more narrow streets and in a very short time we found ourselves in another bedlam — this time the old market of San Juan de Dios at the foot of Av. Juarez—but in Guadalajara, at last. We were afraid to drive on for the solid mass of people jamming the street—and afraid to stop for the beggars and crude rustics all about—for it was still Saturday night, remember? and everybody, but everybody of Guadalajara's half-million people seemed to be out shopping and celebrating.

We pushed on slowly and when it seemed safe to park for a minute we started asking our way to the motel we had chosen from the "Triple-A" book. The book said it was near the Arches just off Vallarta street. We thought we could pronounce enough Spanish words to get by, but we asked for "The Arches" instead of "Los Arcos" and "Vallarta" just as it is, in English, only down here they pronounce it "Vie-yarta" and, of course, nobody knew what we were talking about and were too busy enjoying downtown Guadalajara at night to care. What to do? From where we stood there were streets leading off in six directions. We chose the biggest and brightest—which proved to be Av. Juarez.

ORGANIZED

As we drove up Juarez there were still pedestrians all over the place but traffic seemed to be better organized with traffic lights and policemen. We drove on up this wide avenue, through the well-lighted business section and then as traffic slurred a bit we started stopping and asking questions again. For a ways we got nowhere, then we spotted a "Farmacia" and the pharmacist inside spoke a little English and when we asked again where Vallarta St. was, he replied, "Why you are on Vie-yarta."

Then we remembered. Mexicans have that cute little trick of changing the names of their principal avenues ever so often. Juarez is Juarez between the big market and Tolsa, and Vallarta from Tolsa to the Arches. Juarez/Vallarta bisects the city east to west. All north and south avenues have different names on either side of Juarez/Vallarta. Confusing isn't it?

That was in 1958. The half-million population Guadalajara of that date is now a cool million population. This population explosion is not all due to the Mexicans being good multipliers. The last few years the Americans have been coming down here in droves—even from California they come. There are some Canadians but mostly yanquis.

Why? Well, there are a number of reasons put forward. Some political fanatics say it is to escape the threat of the grafting Democrats; others, that it is the best climate in North America (California skinned a mile).

Then there is the problem of the retired person living on a fixed pension in an inflation period — as in the U.S.A. and Canada. And, of course, what endears Mexico to the American housewife is the availability of servants down here. All these add up to a pretty convincing argument for the thousands and thousands that are tramping down over the border.

We don't know about the Democrats. There is no arguing the weather angle: we have been basking in hot sunny days all during December while Mexico City is wet and cold and a great storm is sweeping across Canada and the U.S.

Living is certainly cheap down here. A good modern apartment, comparable to any in Vancouver and in a good location may be had, furnished, for $80 to $100 (Canadian), per month . . . one bedroom. There is an abundance of native fruit and vegetables and meat in all the markets and the supermarket chains—cheap. Don't buy imports—expensive. Molds may be hired for $12 to $15 (Canadian) per month—

CAN MEAN
CASH IN YOUR HAND

That investment you have in your home is an asset in more ways than one. You qualify for the Associates' Home Owner's Loan Plan. Under this plan, you may borrow from $2,000 to $20,000 on the equity you've built up. The interest rate is reasonable. There are no hidden charges or obscure clauses. You completely repay the loan in equal monthly installments over a period of up to ten years. There are no "balance" or "balloon" payments. Interest is computed monthly on the unpaid balance. This means that each payment you make reduces the amount of interest you pay.

There are 101 reasons why you might need cash—financing a university education, buying a second car, remodeling your home. Keep the Associates' Home Owner's Loan Plan in mind. The Associates is one of Canada's largest financing firms with branch offices in principal cities across the country.

NO ELECTION TILL JUNE

Chatterton Is Confident

Federal election is unlikely before June, according to Esquimalt-Saanich M.P. George Chatterton now on his way back to Ottawa.

In Sidney on Monday, Mr. Chatterton told The Review that too many essential votes must be passed before parliament can terminate its activities. Weight of business yet unfinished would not permit of a voluntary election before midsummer, he suggested.

Mr. Chatterton was even questioning whether Liberal members would welcome an election before redistribution. It will take at least 18 months for the redistribution commission to sit and report back to the house, said the member. Changes visualized in the allocation of seats would generally benefit Liberal members, he feels. Hence, he told The Review, Liberals are unlikely to seek an early election.

RUN OFF HIS FEET

The local member explained that he had been run off his feet keeping au fait with the proposed portable pension legislation.

His Conservative party is in a difficult position over the pension legislation, he said.

The Conservatives are fully in favor of the project, continued the member, but they must now be critical of the manner in which it is to be split up among the provinces.

"The Liberals sit back and let us criticize it," he said, "in order to give the impression that we are opposed."

There are many aspects of the pension plan which are completely unacceptable, he stated.

"The present government is 'balcanizing' Canada," charged Mr. Chatterton. "All legislation provides for separate provisions for each province, until you will finish up with no portability left."

CONFIDENCE
Mr. Chatterton has complete confidence in the leadership of John Diefenbaker.

"Mr. Diefenbaker has the prairie provinces and rural Ontario solidly behind him," said Mr. Chatterton. "He will not release the reins while he is needed."

In reply to a question that Mr. Diefenbaker could well resign for reasons of ill health in order to pass the direction of the party to another, Mr. Chatterton was brusque. "Mr. Diefenbaker's health is excellent," he replied.

The Esquimalt-Saanich member was leaving for Patricia Bay Airport later the same day.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

More Sidewalks And Lights Foreseen For Sidney In '65

Extended sidewalk program, road construction, additional street lights and improvements to Tulista Park in 1965 were visualized Monday by Sidney Council Chairman A. A. Cormack in his inaugural address to council.

Looking back on 1964, Mr. Cormack said, "This past year was a very busy one, and I believe, the one that showed the biggest advancement since the village was incorporated."

Highlight of last year noted by the chairman was completion of the

Too Late To Go To Committee

Future Teachers' Club invited someone to a conference in Salmon Arm.

Trustees of Saanich School District spent some time on Monday evening ascertaining who was invited.

It was not immediately clear whether a teacher, a trustee or a student was sought. After debate trustees decided that it was a teacher, invited as the "sponsor" of the club.

NEW HOMES INCREASE

Number of new homes constructed annually has increased each year since 1960, said Reeve R. G. Lee on Tuesday.

Last year, 78 new homes were built in the municipality, compared to only 28 in 1960. In 1961 there were 31 new homes; 1962, 54 and 1963, 57 new homes.

New policy of committee work broke down when one trustee plainly pointed out that if the matter were referred back to a committee it would be too late to take any action.
